SUMMARY

Recent IT graduate with a Bachelor of Information Technology from Federation University Australia, applying for Deloitte's Enterprise Technology Graduate Program with preferences for Tech Strategy & Transformation and Tech Managed Services. I understand how technology and business processes connect — not from theory, but from leading the delivery of a live technician dispatch platform for a real client as Project Manager, where I translated business requirements into a working system and managed stakeholder relationships end-to-end. I also built and now personally operate a help-desk platform that directly models enterprise service management workflows, and a full DevOps pipeline that demonstrates how cloud and infrastructure decisions connect to business outcomes. I'm curious, collaborative, and genuinely excited about large-scale technology transformation work.
