Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to apply for the Casual Retail Service Consultant role at Optus Marion. Bringing positive energy to every interaction and being part of a supportive crew is exactly the kind of customer service I actually enjoy giving, and I'm genuinely flexible and available for casual shifts across the week.

For the past two years I've worked directly with clients at VIP Cleaning Services, where I consistently scored 95% in client quality surveys by listening carefully to feedback and adjusting how I worked to meet their expectations. I also introduced standardised checklists that lifted site quality scores by 25%, coming from noticing a gap and taking the initiative to fix it without being asked.

What I think sets me apart for this specific role is my technology background. I hold a Bachelor of Information Technology and have spent the past year independently building and supporting live software products — including a customer booking platform and a help-desk system. That means I'm genuinely comfortable with devices, connectivity, and digital services, and I've had real practice explaining technical things in plain, simple language to people who aren't technical.

I stay calm under pressure — I've worked in fast-paced, high-accuracy environments (99.5% order accuracy across 200–300 orders a day in a previous warehouse role) where staying composed and focused mattered every shift. I'm a strong team player, reliable, and genuinely excited about bringing positive energy to the Marion team.

Thank you for considering my application — I'd love the opportunity to bring my customer-service experience and tech curiosity to your team.

Kind regards,

Priyanshu
