Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to apply for the Customer Experience Consultant role at Cushman & Wakefield. I'm a natural people person who genuinely enjoys helping others, and the chance to be the first point of contact for clients across calls and emails, with real training and a clear path to grow my career, is exactly the kind of opportunity I'm looking for.

I've spent two years in direct, recurring client-facing work at VIP Cleaning Services, where I consistently scored 95% in client quality surveys by listening carefully and adjusting how I worked to meet expectations. I also proactively introduced standardised checklists that lifted site quality scores by 25%, which I think speaks to the same drive to support and improve processes that this role asks for.

What I think sets me apart is that I've already built and now personally operate TicketDesk (ticketdesk-app.onrender.com), a platform designed specifically for accurately logging, prioritising, and resolving a high volume of incoming requests — the exact kind of accurate data entry and case management this role works in daily. As Project Manager on a university capstone, I also led a 5-person team delivering Call-a-Technician (callatechnician.com.au), a live platform now used in production, where I was the direct point of contact resolving a real client's queries efficiently and professionally.

I'm a confident communicator with a good phone manner and the ability to write clear, concise emails. I'm highly detail-oriented, a strong multi-tasker, and I hold a Bachelor of Information Technology, which means I'm genuinely comfortable with computers and keyboard work. I'm organised, self-disciplined, and a positive team player.

Thank you for considering my application — I'd welcome the opportunity to bring my customer service and accuracy to your team.

Kind regards,

Priyanshu
